These photos were taken in Toronto over the last year like most others on this website. They are meant to show some of the major influences on our culture, including on how we think. We can't consciously process everything we see in our fast-paced culture. But, our subconscious does.

These images and everything we see or hear, from the ticker on the news to the background noise around us, has an effect on us. The people who control our culture work to change us over time. So, we should figure out the big picture to reject the bad ideas being slowly pushed in stages.

These aren't all bad. They and other examples of our creativity are just often based on trends in our cultures promoted for reasons unknown to most people. Once most of us are aware of why and how these trends are pushed, we can push for better trends to maintain a healthy culture.

Warm regards,

Vij
